Nancy M. Schlichting

is credited with leading the Henry Ford Health System, now a nationally recognized $5 billion health care organization with 23,000 employees, through a dramatic financial turnaround in a city in economic turmoil, and for creating award-winning patient safety, customer service, and diversity initiatives. Her initiatives took the health system from “worst to first” recently receiving the highly prestigious Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award. She has also been named for the fourth time to the “Top 25 Women in Healthcare” and also listed her for the seventh time to the “100 Most Powerful People in Healthcare.” Find out more at NancyOnLeadership.com.

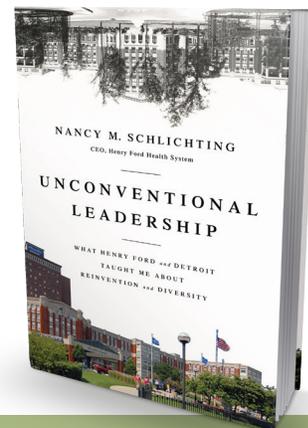

Keynote: “On Leadership”

Nancy knows what it takes to lead. She is uniquely qualified to describe how pursuit of the unexpected can turn anticipated failure into success – because she’s done it. When she talks of her affinity for “big, sticky, complex problems,” her explanations offer proven guidance for creating positive change – because she’s solved them. When she speaks about “bucking tradition” as a lens for more clearly seeing the solutions to tough challenges, she does it with the authority of someone telling her own story.

Audiences leave inspired to:

- Confront challenges with bravery and confidence
- Consider their biggest obstacles as their greatest opportunities
- Not be afraid to think differently and be the one to create the change needed to succeed.
